

Application & Express Mail Fees

SEATTLE CENTRAL COLLEGE
International Education Programs

Application Fee

The non-refundable, non-transferrable $50 application fee must be paid before an application can be processed. An application can be deferred to a future quarter one time without payment of another application fee. If the application is deferred again, the application fee must be paid with each deferral request.

Express Mail Fee

Seattle Central sends its acceptance materials by FedEx air mail. Applicants who would like their materials sent by FedEx express mail may make this request by paying the $50 express mail fee. This fee is charged per student and is required each time materials are to be sent by express mail.

For its approved partner advising agencies and educational institutions, Seattle Central provides one complimentary international express mailing per application.

Payment Options Available

- Credit Card Online (credit card information can only be submitted online, and cannot be accepted by phone, fax, or e-mail)

Students who apply online will be prompted to pay their application and optional express mail fees via Seattle Central's admission application portal. Students who apply using the PDF application can pay by accessing our credit card payment system directly, here.

- Personal Check, drawn on a U.S. bank account

- International Bank Draft
