About the Priority Admission Certificate

Seattle Central College maintains an open admission policy as is the case with most U.S. community colleges. We typically accept international applicants 18 years of age or older who wish to pursue higher education in the United States. We also have special programs and requirements for 16 and 17 year old international students.

The Priority Admission Certificate is issued to recognize applicants who have taken additional steps to demonstrate their interest in pursuing college-level study. The certificate recognizes these efforts, and will serve as additional proof of the applicant's intent to engage in higher education in the United States.
